INTERESTING CHARACTER.

A King George correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says: The most interesting and unique character in this country is a widow, three score years old, healthy, strong, and active. She owns a cosy cottage, situated on a small hill forest farm—the whole surrounded by woods, and for many years she has been the solitary occupant of the lonely premises. She is one of the bravest mortals that live in or out of Virginia.
Her comfortable support is derived from an orchard, which was planted and raised by her own unaided hands.
Once in a while a small parcel of her land is rented and cultivated by somebody in the neighborhood, but neither tenant, hireling, or any other mortal is human being taken into her confidence or given opportunity to become acquainted with her affairs. She is exceedingly industrious and does pretty much all the work that is done about the place, yet she is one of the best-read and best informed ladies in the county on nearly all the topics of the times. A fine con-verser, and fond of reading, she burns the midnight oil and enjoys her books and papers when the neighbors 'round about her are in the arms of Morpheus. Nearly every variety of flowers adapted to this climate may be found in her beautiful yard, and as to berries, grapes, and all manner of the largest fruits, there is just no end to them on her little forest plantation.

Her companions consist of a well-bred poultry, and these are trained to obey the will and commands of their mistress. A fat, sleek cow browses around the premises, and comes up to be milked and tucked away in her stable on schedule time. This "lone widow" lives well, and by the way, entertains royally when her friends "drop in" to pay her a call, and is highly respected. Everything around the place is kept in "apple pie order," and shows the best of management and untiring industry, and how one single individual does the amount of work that is done by this woman is simply a wonder and mystery to all who see her premises.
Whether she expects to die at the appointed time no one knows—her expectations, like her business affairs, are not made public—but she is now engaged in adding large numbers of young trees, etc., to her immense orchard, and otherwise extending her domain.

ANOTHER JOHN BROWN NEEDED.

At a meeting of colored citizens in Boston Monday night in commemoration of the thirty-sixth anniversary of the execution of John Brown, a portion of the exercises was devoted to a discussion of what one of the speakers called "the present rain of lawless outbursts on the colored race." George T. Downing, of Newport, made an address, in which he set forth in strong language the spirit that actuated John Brown and said that it might be necessary to have the spirit of another John Brown to right the wrongs of the colored people.
He thought that it might be necessary to resort to the flaming brand or poison or the sword as the remedy that might come. If so, the colored race would not shrink from it, but they trusted that God would not permit that issue to be necessary. A petition to be sent to Congress was submitted. It prays for remedial legislation.

The Century for December, the Christmas number, has been received from its publishers in New York. Its contents are: Jesus Found in the Temple, The Passion-Play at Vorder-Thiersee, Sir George Tressady, Life of Napoleon Bonaparte, A Midsummer Night, Shakspeare, Captain Eli's Best Ear, a Christmas story; Tom Grogan, Appeals to Lincoln's Clemency, Humphreys' "Hansel and Gretel," The Grasshopper and the Ant, A Woodland Dream, An Engraving of Titian's Flora, of Christ," One Way Out, Glamour,

Vein.

The wife of Mr. Leonard Wells, of East Brimfield, Mass., has been suffering from neuralgia for two days, not being able to sleep or hardly keep still, when Mr. Holden, the merchant there, sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and asked that she give it a thorough trial. On meeting Mr. Wells the next day he was told that she was all right, the pain had left her within two hours, and that the bottle of Pain Balm was worth $5,000 if it could not be had for less. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by L. Stabler & Co., druggists.

As an emergency medicine, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral takes the lead of all other remedies.
For the relief and cure of croup, whooping-cough, sore throat, and the dangerous pulmonary troubles to which the young are so liable, it is invaluable, (being prompt to act sure to cure.
